"I can smell autumn dancing in the breeze. The sweet chill of pumpkin and crisp sunburnt leaves." ~ Unknown.

November - the eleventh month of the year marks the closing of the autumn season. It is nature's way of letting go of things and starting afresh. From Thanksgiving to Children's Day -this month HAS IT ALL. This month reminds us to be grateful for everything we have in our life. Gratitude and a positive attitude are not challenges instead, they are CHOICES. So, let's end this month on a happy note with sanguinity and positivity. We hope this newsletter ignites a sense of thankfulness and gratitude in the minds of all our readers.

SENIOR SECONDARY DEPARTMENT

SPORTS WEEK INTERVIEWS

VIJAYMAL SIR
Sports plays an important role in our life for a person's mental and physical health.

LALIT SIR
Sports are very necessary in our lives and this has been clearly proved by the covid pandemic. During covid there was a decrease in students immunity and well-being as well. so , I believe that sport is something which should be incorporated at each phase of life.

GEETA MA'AM
Sports play a pivotal role in life and hence, should not be neglected. I believe both study and sports should be in balance

PABLA MA'AM
Body is the medium of living. If you use your body then it will help you enhance your body's abilities.

HITIK SIR
I believe that every individual on this planet should get involved in sports because the environment in which we live nowadays is not healthy and if we don't get involved in any kind of sport, we won't be able to lead a healthy life.

MANISH SIR
Sports enhance your mental and physical health. It teaches you discipline, gives fuel to the body and most importantly, fills you with joy. Nowadays, the youth are diverted by digital games due to which they suffer from ailments like weak eyesight, back pain etc. Exercising in the present would save you from diseases in the future.

EXERCISE

Q2. WHAT ARE THE WAYS THROUGH WHICH A PERSON CAN AVOID OVER-EXERCISING?

VIJAYMAL SIR
By proper training, a person can avoid over-exercising.

LALIT SIR
Excess of anything is harmful, so if you overdo any exercise, it will also cause harm to your body and health.

GEETA MA'AM
Over Exercising will cause harm to our body because anything done in excess in the long run, it will lead to bad effects & subsequently, cause damage to our health.

PABLA MA'AM
Only through knowledge.

MANISH SIR
For instance, many renowned stars, like Raju Srivastava whose cardiac muscles were stressed excessively while working out, have passed away due to over-exercising. The key is endurance.

HITIK SIR
I have seen many people working out vigorously without any actual target or goal. They are unaware of the nutrition and rest required. So, before exercising a person should make himself/herself aware of the nutrition and the amount of practice required for a particular sport.

SPORTS WEEK INTERVIEWS

VIJAYMAL SIR
I have observed a decrease in the stamina of children. They sometimes put their studies over health.

LALIT SIR
There has been a drastic change in the stamina of students. Students believe in playing online games instead of physical games and instead of walking they now believe in riding bikes and scooty to reach their destination.

GEETA MA'AM
I have observed a decrease in endurance of students over the years due to availability of various digital facilities nowadays .

PABLA MA'AM
Stamina in children has lately been decreasing because of lack of participation.

HITIK SIR
At my age, students were interested in spending more time on the field. Studies are important but one should also spend more and more time on the field so that he/she can allow his/her muscles , bones and mental & physical abilities to grow.

MANISH SIR
There are different types of stamina. It is something you build over the years, one step at a time. Secondly, you gain stamina as your working efficiency increases. The third kind of stamina is PATIENCE. Patience and efficiency go hand in hand.

SENIOR SECONDARY DEPARTMENT

SPORTS WEEK INTERVIEWS

Q4. AS A TEACHER, WHAT DO YOU EXPECT YOUR STUDENTS TO LEARN FROM THE SPORTS WEEK ORGANISED IN OUR SCHOOL?

VIJAYMAL SIR
For the betterment of the students health , sports week has been organised in the school.

LALIT SIR
I want my students to learn sportsmanship from the sports week.

PABLA MA'AM
"Sports for all and all for sports."

GEETA MA'AM
I want students to learn that success and failure are a part of life. Instead of taking failure as a disappointment one should learn from it.

MANISH SIR
Sports week encourages combined sports culture. Students, who don't generally get to see their classmates play because of inter-school and zonal, get the opportunity to appreciate and enjoy their talent.

HITIK SIR
Sports week has been organized for the students and by the students. From this week students will develop interest in games and sports. All these games will not only help them in this age, but will also help in their later age.

LESSONS WORTH SHARING

In this MONTH'S Exploration, the Clubmembers discussed, considered and defined the qualities of an "idea worth spreading."

Many also choose to combine this Exploration with Exploration #1

The students jotted down their ideas in their IDEA BOOKS

They drew a concept map or visual that showed the qualities that made an idea worth spreading. They come up with their own creative approach!

Before the session they watched the second TED-Ed Club Lesson.

They were asked to choose and view some Club talks.

Pick a favorite video and think of a few reasons this talk stood out to you. Does the presentation you picked contain a great idea or an "idea worth spreading"?

They were asked to be prepared to share their thoughts.

MOTHER'S DAY: A PLAY WITH A TWIST

! - DON'T BE AFRAID THEY WILL BE CHANGING SOULS..

! WARNING

An English class without any 'Drama' would be unimaginable. We are not referring to the daily 'drama' students and teachers engage themselves in, for "all the world's a stage and we are merely players" courtesy William Shakespeare. We are referring to the meticulously planned class play 'Mother's day with a twist'. Their English teacher Ms. Ritu Bhandari PGT (English) encouraged the students to curate the whole play themselves. From the script writing to the enactment, each and everything was curated by the students. The Principal and the Senior Secondary Incharge Ms. Neelam Chawla also appreciated the students for their diligent performance.

PEER TEACHING

The opportunity to teach your peers sends a powerful message. It motivates the students and is an authentic way to build confidence, leadership, and empathy. Thanks to Pabla ma'am for providing me with this opportunity of explaining those topics to the class which I was well aware of. I felt extremely self-confident by taking up this responsibility of making the other students understand those concepts and prepare notes of the same. It helped me to observe and experience the classroom through a different perspective and created a space for collaborative learning which was equally beneficial for me as well as other students.

The Securities and Exchange Board of India sponsored a programme on "Financial Literacy" at N.K. Bagrodia Public School in Rohini (SEBI). Ms. Jyoti Kapoor's primary goal in conducting the workshop was to safeguard the interests of securities investors. Put your money in three different baskets: savings, insurance, and investments in government financial products, advised the resource person. Through an interactive session, the audience was informed about the advantages of mutual funds and the many types of funds to be invested in. The teachers gained knowledge and assurance about how to invest in mutual funds.

NATIONAL AUTHOR'S DAY

We all have books that we can't get enough of, characters we can't get out of our heads, and stories that lead us down fantastical rabbit holes. National Author's Day gives us the chance to appreciate the brilliant minds who created them. November days are the perfect time to curl up with a warm beverage and a book you love as the sunlight filters softly through the winter surrender. It's beautiful how as we go through life, we find literature increasingly commenting on the experiences we've had and emotions we've felt. Every book is an echo of the same song- often from decades and centuries away- that you're not alone, that someone else has felt the same inscrutable kind of hope or grief before. This connection of words that we live and breathe binds us to everyone who has lived before us and every person who will exist after. So this author's day, let's take a moment to appreciate the authors who poured their hearts into writing our favourite books.

WORLD FREEDOM DAY, 9 NOVEMBER

“Freedom is never dear at any price . It is the breath of life..What would a man not pay for living?
~Mahatma Gandhi”

Under the clear blue sky,
Where the birds wander free,
Towards an infinite, an undefined.
So beautiful, they float carelessly.

Where the clouds roam and dance,
Forming formless figures.
They have no plans,
No destination, no purpose. Its all so peaceful.

Where the winds roar and blow,
In there own rouge craze.
No burden to slow them,
They clash,
With an infectious rage.

Under that clear blue sky,
I fantasize to be free.

CHILDREN'S DAY

As we grow up, I think we replace imagination with knowledge. When we were kids, we didn't know anything for certain, so we wondered and we dreamt. In doing so, we gave life to every paper plane, bled colour into every greyscale, and caught fireflies as if they were sunshine itself stored in a mason jar. There's a simple beauty in not knowing, in wide-eyed wonder, and in dreaming up a million possibilities of what everything can be before the world can tell us what the thing really is. Like in first grade when we were told to draw a scenery, we drew purple clouds and yellow rivers, and red elephants. But as we grow older, we're told that elephants are grey, that houses aren't really made of chocolate and to stay inside the lines. And now we just end up painting what we see. We live in boxes, some boxes we pick out ourselves, and others are chosen for us. But childhood doesn't have to be just some transitional period before becoming an adult, it's any day we break down those cardboard walls and the skies are full of purple clouds again. Children's day is simply about honouring that joie de vivre spirit. To paraphrase the words of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, it's about making conscious efforts to sensitize people, create awareness, and direct much-needed attention towards the rights, education, and welfare of children.

Childhood, the age of being care free,
Childhood, the stage where everything was wizardry..!

Sometimes sitting on a chair, i long for it
Ohh god..how much cheery was it..!

I wish i could re-enjoy the time from which i passed away,
Happiest i would be, if i could get a day there, to stay..!

Did i left it behind..?
Under the tree or the bushes,
In the fragrance of flowers or the smell of mud,
Where did i left it..?

I need that developing stage back,
and want some changes in it.
Need the time back, when i was Contented with a chocolate, happy with a little applaud..!

Childhood, the age of being care free,
Childhood, the stage where everything was wizardry..!

But..as Tom robbins said, "It's never too late to have a happy childhood.

"Keep shinning, keep smiling..!!

THE HAPPIEST PHASE OF LIFE

Childhood is a beautiful phase of life with no stress and worry. Although it can't be applied to everyone still it is the time when we create the most beautiful memories because we cherish each and every moment and explore the world with utmost innocence. Curiosity to learn new things is at its peak as well as children are full of energy during this period. Being a teenager when I saw small kids playing outside, I become nostalgic about my childhood. I still remember those golden days when I use to play with my parents or friends the whole day. It was fun studying with classmates and friends. Teachers with smiling faces taught us good habits and moral values. Everything seems perfect and simple.

WE ARE THE FUTURE

Children's day is celebrated every year on 14 November across India to commemorate the birth anniversary of our 1st prime minister "Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru" and to recognize the needs of children, raise awareness towards their rights and education and ensure their proper growth. Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru was very fond of children, they affectionately called him "Chacha Nehru". Initially, Children's day was celebrated on 20 Nov, the day World Children's Day is celebrated. But after the demise of Jawaharlal Nehru, a resolution was passed in the Indian parliament and November 14 was declared children's day to honor his legacy. Chacha Nehru saw the future of India in the innocent faces and sparkling eyes of children.

The spirit of children's day is to bring a smile to the face of each and every child. Many NGOs give gifts to children who can't afford one, on children's day to make them feel special. Also, schools organize games and activities to ensure that there is full enjoyment the whole day. And in the end, when the children get chocolates or anything else, the smiles on their faces are beautiful & can bring positivity to anyone.

Childhood is a time filled with innocence and purity while the future might make you wish you could return to your childhood days. So, enjoy your childhood like anything as it is perhaps one of the most fortunate gifts one ever receives.

"There is always something to be thankful for."

Thanksgiving is celebrated each year on the fourth Thursday of November. This day not only evokes the feeling of being grateful but, is also about expressing gratitude to the people you love. The word itself says that before the act of generosity, a person should practice gratitude. Thanksgiving is more about giving value to things which may seem insignificant to us, but actually play a significant role in our lives.

GRATITUDE TURNS INTO WHAT WE HAVE AS ENOUGH.

NATIONAL CONSTITUTION DAY

NOVEMBER

26

Constitution Day also known as National Law Day is celebrated on 26th November to commemorate the adoption of the Constitution by the Constituent Assembly of India.

The Indian constitution is the greatest constitution in the world as even though inspired by many other constitutions of the world, it still manages to maintain its uniqueness by being inclusive to all members of society in a country of large diversity. It resolves many issues unknown to the rest of the world and helps empower the marginalised. In fact, it is one of the few in the world written by a member belonging to the so-called backward parts of society. It is the core of law and order in a nation. It is the duty of all Indians to protect it at all costs.

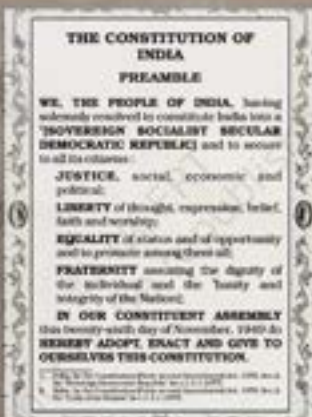

SAMVID CHAWLA
XI-A

Our constitution has its roots from various other constitutions throughout the world and is considered to be one of the best there is. It was drafted under the chairmanship of Dr. Bheem Rao Ambedkar by the constituent assembly of India. It has 470 articles in 25 parts with 12 schedules and 5 appendices and is still growing making it the world's longest constitution in the world. It is unique as it works as a peace maker for almost all the problems at the same time it doesn't discriminate. It provides everyone with the fundamental rights which forms the backbone our country and safeguard's the person's interest.

Modernising the constitution with time and its amendment is necessary, which is offered by our constitution. But the amendment should be accepted on a wide range or else it can be reported to High court or Supreme court through a PIL.

India has the best constitution of the world as it speaks for its people. In the eyes of the constitution everyone is a same because of which the Lady Justice appears with a blindfold and a sword. It makes India a Sovereign, Socialist, Secular and Democratic country. India is a diverse country where our constitution speaks for the nation's equality and unity.

SRISHTI GUPTA,

NATIONAL CONSTITUTION DAY.....*OUR CONSTITUTION, OUR PRIDE

The most striking feature of the Constitution of India is that it's one of the most detailed and lengthiest constitutions, in the world. It has successfully accommodated India's diversity, pluralism, and secularism in a harmonious way. India adopted the Constitution on 26th January 1950. It now contains 12 schedules, 25 parts, and 448 articles. The Indian Constitution has undergone 104 changes to date. The founding fathers of the Constitution of India were well aware that the new government of independent India may face hurdles while making law, governance and policy execution, hence a detailed Constitution eliminates all possible avenues of conflicts amongst all three organs of the government. Every citizen of this nation should be proud of the Constitution because it is not an ordinary constitution but a progressive and modern Constitution which protects all citizens from Kashmir to Kanyakumari.
